Board of Governors

The University's Board of Governors met on Friday, 6 March. The following items were among those discussed during the open portion of that meeting.

Building Committee

On the recommendation of the Building Committee, the Governors approved the appointment of a consortium of firms, consisting of Vaitkunas Jamieson Architects Limited and du Toit Lambrus Consultants Limited, as prime consultants for the construction of new student housing in the east campus area.

In the discussion reference was made to the rally held the previous day, 5 March, in front of University Hall. At that rally, President Horowitz expressed his determination that the facilities to be planned and constructed should be consistent with those found in a well designed residential community. The Chairman of the Board, John Schlosser, in response to the Building Committee's recommendation, reiterated the administration's and Board's equal determination that proposed housing development in the east campus area should coincide with the long-term needs of students at this University. The use of the residential facilities by people involved in the 1983 World University Games has not, nor will be placed ahead of those long-term interests.

The Building Committee also recommended and received Board approval for the appointment of Ragan Bell McManus Consultants Limited as prime consultant for The University of Alberta Athletic

Centre, the "Fieldhouse."

In an unrelated matter, the Building Committee also reported, for information, that Professors Emeriti had been granted free "all zone" parking privileges on campus. There are currently ninety-six Professors Emeriti listed in the University's Calendar.

Appointments

(The first of the three appointments reported below had already been made known prior to the 6 March Board meeting. It is recorded here for the sake of consistency with previous announcements of this kind.) Robert L. Busch has been appointed Chairman of the Department of Slavic Languages for a three-year period effective 1 July

A native of Michigan, Dr. Busch received his bachelor and master's degrees from the University of Michigan. Prior to obtaining his doctorate from Michigan, he studied at Moscow State University in the USSR. Dr. Busch has also studied at the University of Paris.

He acted as a teaching fellow and lecturer in Slavic languages and literature and taught French at the University of Michigan before joining The University of Alberta in 1971 as an Assistant Professor of Russian literature. In 1978-79, Dr. Busch was acting Chairman of the Department of Slavic Languages and since 1979 has been Director of the Division of East European Studies.

Dr. Busch has been awarded the Foreign Area Fellowship and the Fulbright-Hays Fellowship and was a participant in the official US exchange of advanced graduate students and young faculty with the USSR in 1969-70. He was also granted a Canada Council Leave Fellowship in 1977-78.

Dr. Busch succeeds T.M. Priestly who will spend the summer in Eastern Europe conducting a travel study course. Dr. Priestly will return to the University in September.

John Cameron MacKenzie has been re-appointed to the Chair of the Department of Philosophy. Professor MacKenzie, who holds a MA degree from St. Andrew's University and a MLitt from Edinburgh University in Scotland, was first appointed to this University as an Assistant Professor in 1967. He became Associate Professor in 1974. His new term of office will extend from 1 July 1981 to 30 June 1984.

J.A. Abbott is appointed to the Board of Directors of the Management Advisory Institute. He will replace A.E. Gourley as a representative of the Institute of Management Consultants of Alberta. Mr. Abbott is a partner in the firm of Curry, Cooper and Lybrand in Edmonton.

The Board of Directors of the University's non-profit Management Advisory Institute, which lends assistance to off-campus clients, comprises no more than eighteen representatives drawn from a wide variety of sources in the educational and business communities.

Master of Arts (Recreation) Program

On the recommendation of its Academic Concerns Committee, the Board approved the establishment of a program of study leading to the degree of Master of Arts (Recreation) in the Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation. A request to start the program in fall 1981 will now be sent forward to Alberta Advanced Education and Manpower.

The program will be initiated by the transfer to the Department of Recreation Administration of the existing specialization in recreation administration that is offered as part of the master's program in the Department of Physical Education. At the same time, emphasis will shift from physical education skills to leisure theory.

The Board was told that the program will be directed toward effective policy making, planning and program management in the public recreation sector.

The development of theories and concepts in the leisure and recreation field and the principles and practices of policy making, planning and administration of public services will be studied.

Admission to the program will be limited to about six to eight students per year for the first few years of the program. These students are required to have a four-year degree in recreation or a related field such as public administration, planning, community development, physical education, political science, psychology, sociology, geography and forest science.

Preference will be given to applicants who have had work experience of some kind in the recreation field.

The program was endorsed by the Board with the understanding that support will be supplied by existing resources in the Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation. □

Finance Committee

A major item in the business of the Finance Committee was the presentation of recommended increases in accommodation rates at University student residences. The approval of increases in accommodation rates for the Housing Union Building was deferred pending consideration of new data recently submitted to the Finance Committee.

The rates approved are described in the accompanying table. They represent a percentage increase over the 1980-81 rates from 6.1 percent in the case of the Michener Park Row Houses to 21 percent in the case of Pembina Hall board.

The Board of Governors also approved increases in the Students' Union Fee. These increases had already been approved by the student body as a whole in the first fee referendum to be held since 1974. As of 1 September 1981, full-time undergraduate students will pay an additional $7 ($3.50 per term) and part-time undergraduate students will have their fees increased by $3.50 ($1.75 per term).

Macdonell to give 1981 Tory Lecture

Later this month, 17 March, the single most prestigious annual lecture at this institution, the Henry Marshall Tory Lecture, will be delivered by the distinguished former Auditor General of Canada, James J. Macdonell. Dr. Macdonell's topics will be "Financial Accountability in the Public Sector in Canada—Some New Approaches." His talk will mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of these lectures sponsored by The Friends of The University of Alberta.

Dr. Macdonell qualified as a chartered accountant in 1937 and, after some years in industry, in 1945 established and became head of the management consulting services group of Price Waterhouse in Canada. In 1968, he became first senior partner in the newly established consulting firm, Price Waterhouse Associate. Since at least 1945, then, Dr. Macdonell has been keenly interested in the development of management consulting. His interest may be seen in the fact that, in 1963, he became a founding director of the Canadian Association of Management Consultants, for which he served as President in 1965-66. During his term as President, institutes with similar objectives were established in Ontario and Quebec.

Dr. Macdonell, perhaps most widely known across Canada for his appointment as Auditor General, was named Fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario in 1956 and became the first Fellow of the Institute of Management Consultants of Quebec in 1978. In June 1980, coinciding with his retirement from a seven-year stint as Canadian representative to the United Nations Board of Auditors, he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Administration from the University of Ottawa.

As Auditor General of Canada, Dr. Macdonell has actively applied the principles of comprehensive auditing—the key element of which is "value for money"—especially as it concerns publicly funded expenditures. In his lecture, it is likely that he will discuss several dimensions of financial accountability in the public sector. Of special interest, perhaps, will be a review of developments that have taken place in the Office of the Auditor General of Canada during his tenure of that position. These developments are said to have had a significant effect in increasing the financial accountability of the government of this country to Parliament.

The Henry Marshall Tory Lectures, which have been presented since 1956, commemorate the first President of this University. Dr. Tory was born in Guysborough County in Nova Scotia in 1864 and entered McGill University when he was twenty-two years old. He spent two decades at this institution, first as a student and eventually as Professor of Mathematics and Physics. In 1905, Dr. Tory founded the precursor of the University of British Columbia, the McGill College of British Columbia. An energetic man, he also was first President of our own institution, founder and President of the Khaki University during World War I, President of the National Research Council, and, at the time of his death in 1947, President of Carleton College in Ottawa.

The Friends of The University of Alberta have had continued success in their selection of distinguished speakers for the Henry Marshall Tory Lectures. The first speaker in 1956 was Lewis W. Douglas, US Ambassador to the Court of St. James. He was followed by a whole host of key figures from the worlds of government, diplomacy, the sciences and letters. Last year's lecturer was the internationally respected Professor Sir William Hawthorne, CBE, FRS, Professor of Applied Thermodynamics at the University of Cambridge.

The Henry Marshall Tory Lecture will be presented this year in the Dinwoodie Lounge of the Students' Union Building. The date is Tuesday, 17 March, the time 8 p.m. The lecture is open to the public and there is no admission charge. □

Eric Beaumont, 1920-1981

Eric Beaumont, who was employed in the Department of Pathology, Faculty of Medicine, as a medical photographer and museum curator since 1941, passed away at the age of 60 years, on 30 January 1981, after a short illness. He belonged to a diminishing breed of senior laboratory technologists with a life-long commitment to a single institution and department. He had great expertise and experience in the art and craft of black and white and color photography of medical subjects, and over the years his services were much sought after and always freely given. His photographs appeared in scientific periodicals and monographs, and dazzled audiences at regional, national and international meetings. Mr. Beaumont served the Department of Pathology with loyalty and distinction during the tenure of four successive chairmen (J.J. Ower, J.W. Macgregor, G.O. Bain and T.K. Shnitka). He was a great favorite of successive generations of medical and dental students.

In 1976, Mr. Beaumont was the recipient of a 35-year long service award from The University of Alberta. He was a founding member of the Alberta Medical and Biological Photographers Association. During World War II he served with the RCAF from October 1941 to October 1945. His leisure time was devoted to his family and to outdoor activities, especially fishing. He is survived by his wife Rita, one son and three daughters. His many colleagues, and associates will miss his friendliness, helpfulness, sense of humor and infectious love of life. □

Faculty Women's Club Donates Tablecloth

The Faculty Women's Club has donated to the Faculty of Home Economics Historic Costume and Textile Collection, a sub-set of The University of Alberta Collections, a beautiful cut-work tablecloth originally a gift from Edna Bakewell who died in August 1980 at the age of 88 years. Miss Bakewell was a graduate of the class of 1922 and taught women's physical education at the University from 1922 to 1937. The cut-work cloth was bequeathed to her by the late Miss Blanche Gariepy, daughter of the late J.H. Gariety, an Edmonton pioneer. The hand-work on the cloth was done by members of a religious order located in Montreal probably in the 1880s prior to the arrival in Edmonton of Mr. Gariety and some members of his family who had been born in Montreal.

The members of the Faculty Women's Club are delighted that the cloth is now in the hands of those who can give it the expert care it requires and who will provide opportunities for the historic recognition it deserves. □

Psst! Want to buy some hay?

Question: What have one hundred acres of hay, a pipe organ, seven potters' wheels, and three ski boots (male, left feet only) in common with sixty or so microscopes and a digital photographic enlarger?

Answer: All have been declared as surplus equipment at one time or another by this University's Faculties and Departments.

The appropriate disposal of capital equipment no longer needed by Faculties and Departments at this institution is a far greater concern than one would think when reviewing the small announcements that appear from time to time in Folio. As can be imagined, an institution of the size and diversity of The University of Alberta produces a continual stream of equipment and furnishings which, for whatever reason, are no longer desired by its individual departments. At this University, therefore, a procedure has been set up whereby such equipment can be disposed of for the highest financial return to the departments. The procedure, which involves appraisal of the true market value of surplus equipment and its sale by public tender most often through Alberta Government Services, is a free service offered by the Purchasing Department to all offices on campus. There are no snags.

If, for example, there is a large quantity of scrap metal somewhere on campus, Roy Bennett or Bonnie O'Dwyer of the Purchasing Department will arrange for its removal and sale. Although they have not yet had to find potential buyers for last week's sesame seed buns, they and their colleagues, as is obvious from the introduction to this article, have not flinched from arranging the disposal of just about everything else. Another example is the hay crop from the Edmonton Research Station. The University's "Farm" produces more hay than it requires for its own purposes.

Thus, each year the crop is put out to tender and a buyer is found. This year, tenders were called for earlier so that the buyer might fertilize his crop and keep it in good condition until harvesting.

Much of the equipment that is declared surplus, however, is more conventional in nature. Microscopes, desks and chairs, even computer terminals and "made to order" laboratory equipment is despatched to the warehouses of Alberta Government Services. Here, on site inspection is allowed and sealed bids are received. A buyer, who can be an individual or an institution (often preferably an educational or medical institution that would not be subject to federal sales tax) is found and, within a few weeks one of our departments has its coffers refreshed with money to buy more up to date equipment and furnishings. The system works well: for what one department might consider absolutely useless junk might, for another department or someone off campus, be worth its weight . . . well, perhaps not in gold.

The Purchasing Department and Alberta Government Services also arrange for the sale of highly specialized pieces of equipment.

Data processing or photographic equipment, for example, is advertised in appropriate trade journals and, in the case of the former, is now exhibited in the AGS warehouses in an appropriate environment and quite often in working order. Even these specialized services are made available to declaring departments free of charge. For such equipment, as for other furnishings, departments can declare a reserve price under which it may not be sold. In this instance the professional staff within the Purchasing Department will gladly advise departments as to what is realistic.

It is now, and has been for some time, University policy to dispose of any equipment or furnishings that are considered surplus through the offices of the Purchasing Department. So, if you have any such equipment lying around doing nothing (apart, that is, from sessional lecturers, who in any case are subject to term contracts), telephone Roy Bennett or Bonnie O'Dwyer at 432-3208 and get them to help you.

Remember, anyone who can find a buyer for the Golden Bears' old bus, can surely turn a profit from the sale of an AMDAHL 470 V/7 or an IBM 3031. □

COMCAT is Coming

This month the University Library will be introducing a microfiche supplement to its card catalogue. The monthly supplement will show new books received and older material for which the catalogue entry has been revised. Users will be able to search material on the new supplement by way of authors, titles, subjects, and call numbers. Instructions on how to use the COMCAT supplement will be provided near the microfiche readers sprouting throughout campus libraries.

The University Library has been automating its catalogue for some time. Since 1974, catalogue cards, labels, and similar items have been produced via the computer. The use of COM—Computer Output Microform—is a step toward reduced cost, reduced labor, and most important, greatly increased access to the Library's collection. Instead of an army of people physically filing cards in the two main and ten divisional card catalogues, the cataloguing information for new accessions and revised date for material already in the collection will be filed in the computer. Microfiche supplements containing this information will be produced directly by the computer each month, and each successive month will cumulate all the information filed previously.

By the end of the year the Library hopes it will be able to produce a COM catalogue consisting of some 400,000 records of material catalogued from 1974 to 1980 complete with cross-references.

The old card catalogues will continue to be in use for several years, although gradually they will be replaced by the COM catalogue. While records of new material will be added continuously to the COMCAT by way of supplements, records of older material will be converted over time, added to the COMCAT, and deleted from the card catalogue.

Library users for some time to come will have to look in both the COMCAT and the card catalogue for the material they need, although this minor inconvenience will fade in comparison with the more convenient accessibility of the COMCAT.

Now, users have only two main author-title card catalogues on campus and only one main subject catalogue, in which they can find material for all library locations. COMCAT, consisting of perhaps three hundred 4 x 6 inch microfiche cards by the end of 1981, will occupy only a few inches of counter or desk space, even including the microfiche reader. Thus, every library on campus, and every floor of every large library, will have a record of material contained through the University library system.

Moreover, University departments can purchase copies of the COM Catalogue and the supplement for a nominal charge.

Through COMCAT, initially part, then a large and important part, and finally the whole of the University Library's catalogue will be conveniently and easily available throughout the campus to the staff and students who use it. For more information about the COMCAT and also on how copies of COMCAT can be obtained, telephone Calvin Evans, Assistant Librarian for Public Services, at 432-2766, or Seno Laskowski, Head of Cataloguing, at 432-4672.*

Treasures of Ancient Nigeria

An early 16th century head of a Queen Mother. Benin. (Glenbow Museum.)

Score one for the southern city. Calgary's Glenbow Museum will exhibit "the most spectacular loan of African art ever made to the United States and Canada." The exhibition—"Treasures of Ancient Nigeria: Legacy of 2,000 Years"—will open 16 March and continue to 10 May.

There is a connection with The University of Alberta in that André Nitecki, Associate Professor in the University's Faculty of Library Science, is also Associate Curator of African Art at the Glenbow. On 2 April, he will lecture on Nigerian art. The Lecture will take place at 7:30 p.m. in room 129, Education Centre.

The next day, participants will travel by bus to Calgary to view the exhibit in the afternoon and to attend a special lecture that evening. The group will then return to Edmonton.

A series of lectures by authorities on Nigerian art has been scheduled by the Glenbow. All lectures are now sold out but there are tickets to hear Robert F. Thompson of Yale University's Department of Art. On 3 April, Dr. Thompson will speak on "The Aesthetic of the Cool: The Art of an African Woman."

Further details on the lecture can be obtained by telephoning 432-5061 or 432-5532.

The exhibition contains one hundred objects in bronze, terracotta, ivory, and stone that

Ann Savage: Her Expression of Beauty

The Ring House Gallery will be presenting an exhibition of works by Montreal artist Anne Savage, from 12 March to 12 April. The exhibition is circulated by the Extension Services of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. It includes some forty oils and drawings representing all periods of the artist's production. Anne Savage was a contemporary of the Group of Seven. She lived in Montreal from 1896 to 1971 and mostly explored the landscape genre with a fresh and highly stylized vision.

Guest curator, Janet Braide did extensive research and wrote the catalogue for the Anne Savage exhibition. Mrs. Braide met Anne Savage in 1969 while preparing a research project on William Brymner. Anne Savage had studied under Brymner in Montreal from 1914 to 1918. Mrs. Braide will be giving a slide lecture on Anne Savage on Thursday, 19 March at 7:30 p.m. in the Ring House Gallery.

The Ring House Gallery is located just south of the Faculty Club, which is adjacent to Saskatchewan Drive and east of 116th Street. Vehicles access from 116th Street, through the V Zone Parking Lot.

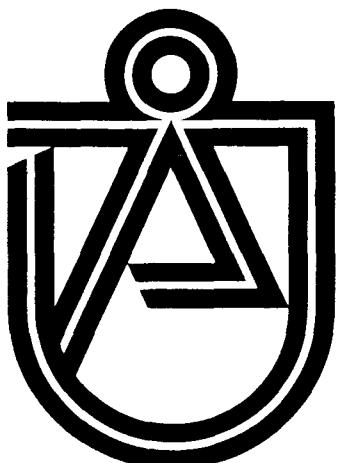

The Gallery hours are: weekdays, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Thursday, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. For further information please contact Marian Butler at 432-5834.

One of the prize pieces is a bronze casting of a queen from Ife (1,200-1,500 A.D.) whose intricate technique, curators say, rivals the best work done by Western Renaissance artists.

The Glenbow Museum is the only Canadian stop for the exhibition which is valued at more than $30 million. General admission is $3.50 for adults, $3 for Friends of Glenbow, and those in groups of 15 or more, $2 for students and senior citizens, and $1 for children under sixteen. □

75 Anniversary Logo

2nd. Prize: Timothy Lau.

Mr. Lau's original entry and second entry.

At the meeting of the Board of Governors held last Friday, an update was presented on the proposed logo for the University's 75 anniversary. In the report submitted by Walter Jungkind, Professor of Art and Design and Chairman of the Logo Jury, attention was drawn to the fact that the approved design was selected from some 54 entries in a competition held in December 1980.

The competition was open to all residents of Alberta, who were able to refer to detailed guidelines provided by the jury. The principal stipulations were that logos submitted should have "a University context by use of traditional form or initials"; that they should "give a feeling of celebration or festivity"; and that they "give an indication of learning/research or human interaction."

The jury, which met in December 1980 to consider the submissions comprised the following people: Walter Jungkind; Jim Haynes, a Vancouver-based designer and consultant; Jim Malone, the University's Bookstore manager; Virginia Penny, designer for the Ring House Gallery; and Margaret Andrekson of the University's 75 Anniversary Committee. At the meeting held in December 1980, there was a unanimous decision that none of the logos received were acceptable for immediate implementation.

As a result, no first prize was awarded to any competitor. Instead, two second prize solutions and a third prize entry were retained for further consideration.

The designer of the more promising entry, Timothy Lau of 2nd. Prize: Wei Yew and 3rd. Prize: Liz VanderVaart.

Edmonton, was asked to make certain changes to his design in consultation with Walter Jungkind and Virginia Penny. Mr. Lau did so and last month the re-submitted design was accepted by the majority of the jury.

A full report on the logo competition, including reproductions of all 54 submissions is available from the Office of Community Relations, 423 Athabasca Hall. Accompanying this article are the original and re-submitted designs of Timothy Lau; the entry of the other second prize winner, Wei Yew; and the third prize logo submitted by Liz VanderVaart.

Notices

Foreign Student Advisers

On 17 March, The University of Alberta is hosting a meeting of the foreign student advisers (or their designees) of Alberta's colleges and universities. A discussion of mutual concerns regarding international students and international education in Alberta will be the focus of the gathering. This meeting has been organized with the encouragement of the President's Advisory Committee on International Affairs.

Unemployment Insurance Changes

The Unemployment Insurance regulations have been amended again to include certain part-time categories of employees previously excluded. It is now necessary to fall below both the minimum hourly and earnings requirements in order to be in excepted employment for unemployment insurance purposes. These minimum requirements for 1981 are as follows:

	Hours	Earnings
Weekly	15	63.00
Monthly	65	273.00

Graduate students holding assistantships, therefore, are now insurable who were previously excepted because their earnings are above the minimum. In addition part-time instructors and certain part-time support staff paid by casual requisition may be insurable where they exceed either one of these minima. The necessary adjustments are being made.

New Staff Removal Allowances

From time to time we have seen examples of new staff coming to the University from outside Edmonton being considerably inconvenienced by the late arrival of their household furnishings, or temporarily embarrassed by moving companies demanding immediate payment of an amount considerably in excess of the estimated costs.

While is is not our intention to promote the services of any particular moving company, we have been advised by Hill Security Van Lines that they are prepared to guarantee a delivery date and a cost to be within 10 percent of the estimate. Hill will have to pay the cost of any additional living and incidental expenses if they fail to meet their delivery date and absorb any costs in excess of 110 percent of the estimate. Accordingly, it may be to the advantage of new staff to at least discuss with the Hill people their move to Edmonton. Hill's local representative, Mr. T. Hrysak, telephone number 467-4144, has asked that he be advised of the names and address of anyone wishing to pursue this matter.

General Security on Campus

With springtime rapidly approaching and the use of bicycles being more common on campus, it is urged that bicycle owners pay particular attention to the security of their bikes when being parked on campus.

A good strong lock should be utilized to secure the bicycle and efforts made not to have the bicycle parked for any undue length of time without frequent checking.

Members of the campus community are reminded that Campus Security will engrave and register bicycles with the City of Edmonton Loss Prevention Program at no charge. All that is necessary is to contact Campus Security to arrange to have this done.

A further concern is evident and that is the ongoing theft of wallets and purses that are left unattended in offices even for a short period of time. Members of the campus community are reminded that when offices are left unlocked and valuables are left therein, there is always the possibility of theft.

Any suspicious activities in the buildings should be reported to Campus Security at 432-5252 in order that the matter may be followed up.

Whatsoever Things Are True

"Whatsoever Things Are True" is the English translation of the University's motto—Quaecumque vera. It is also the title and theme of an exciting new slide/sound presentation now available to the University community and the public.

Central to the theme of the presentation, the search for truth, is the threefold mandate of the University—teaching, research, and community service. In a captivating twelve minutes packed with colorful slides, "Whatsoever Things Are True" will take you all the way from the origins of the University, almost seventy-five years ago, to the present. Best of all, the program is The University of Alberta—its history, its diverse activities, its attractive physical setting, and the people who make it work. "Whatsoever Things Are True" is a tour for those who are unable to explore the University's thirty-six or more major buildings, and for those who have never seen the control panel of a nuclear reactor. Whether it be a laser beam slicing through a piece of asbestos or a potter throwing clay, the program has something for everyone.

If you don't believe that we were able to pack all of this into just twelve minutes, then come and see the show. The Office of Community Relations will be projecting "Whatsoever Things Are True" at 12:15 p.m. and 12:30 p.m. daily from 16 to 20 March in the Music Room, main floor SUB. Admission is free. For further information or reservations for showings other than those listed above, telephone 432-2325.

US Taxpayer Assistance

A US Internal Revenue Service Representative, Julia Kemp, will be in Calgary from 25 March to 23 April, to answer questions regarding US Income Tax matters. She will be at the United States Consulate General, Room 1050, 615 Macleod Trail S.E. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., Monday to Friday, except on American and Canadian holidays. The telephone number is 266-8962.

Julia Kemp will also be in Edmonton from 27 April to 7 May at the Chateau Lacombe and will be available for consultations only from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., Monday to Friday. The telephone number will be 428-6611.

US citizens are reminded that even though they are in a foreign country their Federal income tax filing requirements are generally the same as for US citizens residing in the United States.

Positions Vacant

Student Adviser

A Student Adviser is required by the Office of Student Affairs to be primarily responsible for the area of assessment and assistance to students with academic grievances and concerns. In addition, the Student Adviser will be actively involved in the provision of a wide variety of services to international, mature and physically disabled students.

The successful applicant will have the ability to work independently and will demonstrate above average written, oral, analytical and communication skills. An interest in University regulations and procedures is essential. He/she must be able to relate well to students, staff, government and community agencies. Familiarity with the teaching and learning process and study and writing skills is necessary. Relevant training and work experience in a service-oriented position, preferably in an educational setting, is essential.

Minimum starting salary will be $18,500 per annum. The University of Alberta offers a comprehensive benefits program.

Please submit résumés with references by 16 March, 1981 to: R. Groberman, Director of Student Affairs, The University of Alberta, 225 Athabasca Hall, T6G 2E8. The University of Alberta is an equal opportunity employer.

Administrative/Professional Officer, Examinations and Timetabling Division, Office of the Registrar

The Office of the Registrar invites applications for the position of Time-table, Examinations and Calendar Analyst. The incumbent is responsible for the design and maintenance of information processing systems for collecting, recording, processing and producing information related to the production of calendars, sessional timetables, examination schedules and the allocation of centrally scheduled classroom space.

Using tools of systems analysis, the incumbent examines present methods and suggests changes in such areas as system design, workflow, priorities, system hardware and software, staffing, etc. There is considerable scope for the exercise of initiative and imagination.

Qualifications preferred are a University degree and some administrative experience. The ability to write GIS programs would be an asset but candidates with a sufficient knowledge of computer systems that would permit them acquiring GIS programming skills are encouraged to apply.

The salary range for this APO position begins at $19,040. Actual starting salary within the range will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Interested persons should submit résumés to: Dr. W.A. Blanchard, Registrar, Office of the Registrar, 201 Administration Building, The University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2M7. The University of Alberta is an equal opportunity employer.

Programmer/Analyst

A Programmer/Analyst is required by the Cardiac Care Evaluation Project to aid in the design and implementation of a computerized cardiac care registry. The Programmer/Analyst will be involved in the design of input and output documents according to user specifications, programming in MTS and different data base management systems, and the documentation of system applications. The incumbent will work closely with the Department of Computing Services as well as with personnel from participating hospitals involved in the delivery of cardiac care.

The successful applicant will have a BSc or equivalent, in Computing Science and a minimum of two years' experience. The University of Alberta offers competitive salaries and a comprehensive employee benefits package.

Interested persons please call 432-5201 for an application form or apply in person to Personnel Services and Staff Relations, 3rd Floor, Students' Union Building, 114 Street and 89 Avenue, Edmonton T6G 2J7.

The University is an equal opportunity employer.

Research Assistant

Required for a two-year study to determine incidence, prevalence, and survival of patterns of inflammatory bowel disease in Alberta. A data base would be developed and preliminary information would be sought on etiological factors with the view to enhancing the clinical research program.

The individual would test and modify the data collection forms; establish techniques for tracing patients; develop follow-up techniques; work in conjunction with programmer; and maintain liaisons with outside agencies.

Please apply to the Division of Gastroenterology. For further information: Alan B.R. Thomson, 8-104B Clinical Sciences Building, The University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta T6G 2G3. 432-6284.
